

Hoffman Dream Panel Christmas 3 pass pattern instructions

This set of 3 patterns is designed to approximately place a pointsetta into the center of the flower and put some angels in some of the petals. This is not an exact science.

You need to load the panel so that the writing on the selvedge is in the bottom left corner and reads correctly.

I would put all three patterns onto the cad screen at once.

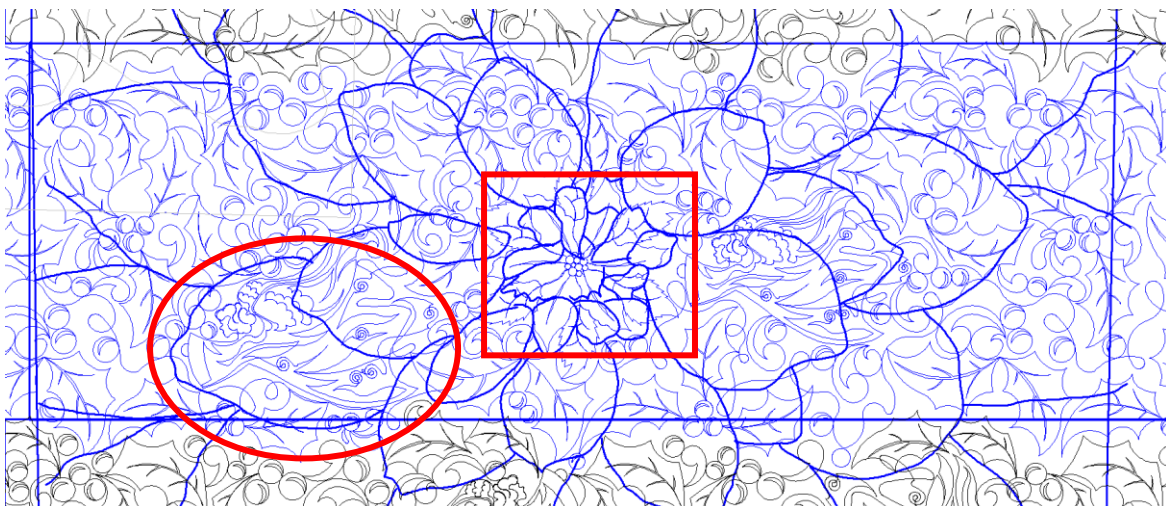

I would line them all up so that the spacing between the passes is correct.

I would roll the quilt so that the center pass can be stitched first.

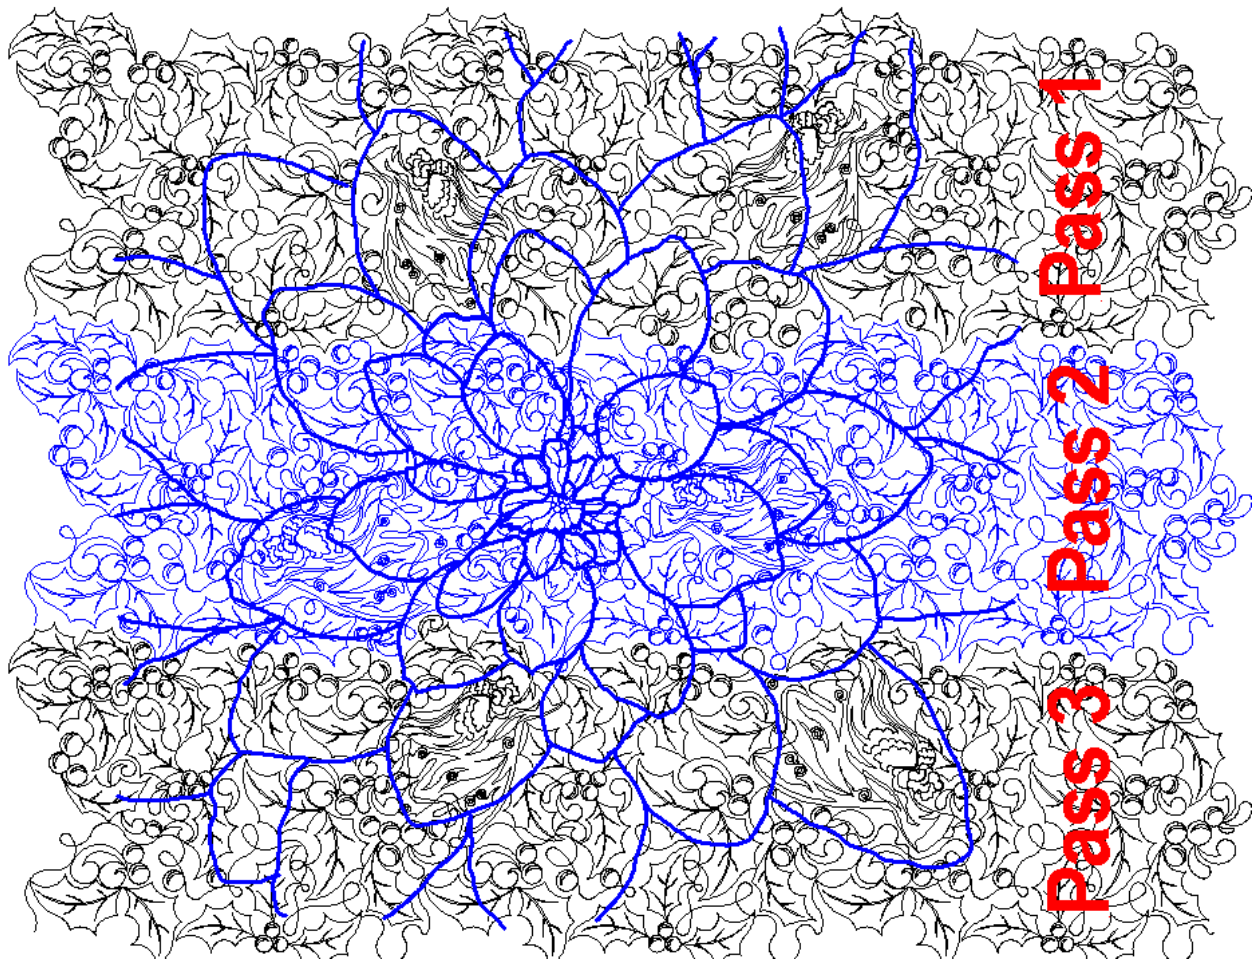

I would mark boundaries to show the general area of the center of the flower.

I would mark a boundary that shows highlighted petal.

Now move all 3 passes together and line up the center and put the angel in the petal.

Notice that there is plenty of extra pattern on the outside edges, you will probably want to trim the pattern at the edges.

Stitch Pass 2 (the middle one).

Roll the quilt back, relocate using whatever method you use, and stitch Pass 1.

Roll the quilt down, relocate and stitch Pass 3.
